DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: page 1, line 8, "MER-0103" should read --60/440,536--.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Objections

2. Claims are objected to because of the following informalities: Means for allowing a user to grip" should read --gripping means for allowing a user to grip--.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

- a. Claims 1 and 3-4, as broadly claimed, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ignaczak. Ignaczak discloses a push-up board exercise device having means for providing stability and connection (12) and means for allowing a user to grip (36) the device at the edge of middle and rigidly connected to the device (figs. 3a-3b). As to claims 3-4, the means for allowing is a rigid hand grip (22). The grip fits in hole (24) at lock point (38a,48a) to be rigidly secured to the board.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

b. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ignaczak as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Rozenblad. Ignaczak disclosed the means comprising a rigid slotted base (12). Ignaczak discloses all of the limitations of the claimed invention except for the base having a non-slip bottom. Thus Rozenblad teaches a non-slip bottom (50/52). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Ignaczak in view of the teaching of Rozenblad such that a non-slip bottom is capable of preventing the device from slipping while in use.

c. Claims 5 and 7-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ignaczak as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Rozenblad. Ignaczak discloses a base (12), and first (14) and second (16) grip. See the paragraph above for claims 1 and 2. Ignaczak discloses all of the limitations of the claimed invention except for the grips being small or large. At the time the invention was made, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to a person of ordinary skill in the art to modify the device of Ignaczak by designing a small or large grip because Applicant has not disclosed that a small or large grip provides an advantage, is used for a particular purpose, or solves a stated problem. One of ordinary skill in the art, furthermore, would have expected Applicant's invention to perform equally well with any size grip because the size of the grip serves no mechanical function and is capable of performing in the same capacity as a small or large grip. Therefore, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to modify Ignaczak to obtain the invention as specified in claim 5. As to claims 7-20, Ignaczak and Rozenblad disclose all of the limitations of the claimed invention except for a fourth, fifth, and sixth hand grip. The applicant should note that duplicating the components of a prior art device is a design consideration within the skill of the art. In re Harza, 274 F.2d 669, 124 USPQ 378 (CCPA 1960).

d. Claims 6 and 21, as broadly claimed, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ignaczak and Rozenblad as applied to claim 5 above, and further in view of Montgomery. Ignaczak and Rozenblad disclose all of the limitations of the claimed invention except for a third hand grip. Thus Montgomery teaches a third hand grip (22) rigidly connected to a middle of the board. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Ignaczak in view of the teaching of Montgomery such that a third hand grip is capable of being gripped by a user.
